Drill Team; What's It All About?

Would you like to get involved with a fun, non-competitive group of friends and their dogs this summer? We are looking at forming a drill team to perform for audiences and parades. We will learn how to march in formations and amaze the crowd with your dog's talent. There will also be opportunity for those of you agility friends as we can incorporate props with our routine.

The skies the limit in where we could go with this group! This can be a very basic drill routine or incorporate our finest training skills and tricks.

There will need to be a commitment from you for practices, which will likely be held once per week. We will be practicing outside, with the location yet to be determined. We would like to know if you have a preference of location and night of the week to practice; and do you have experience with a drill team? Even if you do not have experience, we need you for your creative ideas! We are planning on forming a committee to develop our routines and objectives for the group.

If you are interested, please e-mail or call Deb Moengen (jupnorth@uslink.net, (218)232-6104) to let her know that you want to be counted in.

Albert & Lily, The Reading Dogs

Albert and Lily, Newfoundlands owned by Larry & Shirley Lintner, have been busy since October, 2008 going to Garfield Elementary as Therapy Dogs International certified reading dogs.

They go every Wednesday morning and see over 100 students in three first grades, one class every 30 minutes. They are bathed, groomed, and refreshed the night before on commands needed for the next day. They go on-lead and enter the classrooms, ready and wagging to hear students read books to them. They have been a great hit for the kids and especially encouraging for the slow readers!
